Masterclass with Alex Majoli and Erik Kessels in Venice

Join Magnum photographer Alex Majoli for a 3-day workshop in a stunning environment, with artist, designer and curator Erik Kessels, in collaboration with Fondazione Giorgio Cini.

21-22-23 April 2020
Fondazione Giorgio Cini, Isola di San Giorgio Maggiore
Venezia

Magnum Photos and the Fondazione Giorgio Cini are thrilled to launch applications for the second workshop organized on the island of San Giorgio Maggiore in Venice, offering participants to work on their projects in an immersive and intimate group setting.

Organized into intensive sessions of lectures, discussions, practical exercises, and group portfolio reviews – this workshop will help you to develop your individual project objectives and give you insight on how to pursue your project, whether you want to keep shooting, publish it in a book or exhibit it. Through individual mentoring and wider discussions on the contemporary editorial environment, the masterclass will contextualize and shape the vision of each involved photographer and define the process of conceiving and executing a long-term project.

This opportunity is suitable for professional photographers with a great range of body of work who are looking for assistance in the final stage of their projects. Each participant will have an opportunity to gain a better understanding of the editing process of long-term projects and choosing the right format for displaying them.

People working with vernacular photography are also welcomed to apply.

This workshop offers:

- Mentoring by Magnum photographer Alex Majoli and Erik Kessels
- Group portfolio reviews
